

Permission Form

I, _____, the Owner of:

“photos submitted in various enameling techniques”, the “Materials”, hereby grant the publisher and its successors, assigns and licensees, in perpetuity, nonexclusive all-language world rights with unrestricted permission, to use the materials within the interior and/or on the jacket/cover/binding of the book, with respect to all print and electronic media, promotional materials, future revisions and editions thereof, and in the exercise of rights related thereto, in regards to the Work tentatively entitled:

The Art of Fine Enameling, Revisited

These rights will in no way restrict republication of your Materials in any form by you or by others authorized by you, unless published in a competing work.

By signing this form, you are certifying that you have in fact received the necessary permissions and rights to distribute these Materials for publication in the aforementioned Work. You also certify that you have received the necessary permissions to use the name and likeness of all of those included in the Materials chosen for publication. Furthermore, you agree to indemnify and hold harmless the Publisher from any legal action arising out of the misuse of these Materials, including but not limited to: copyright infringement, breach of trademark, trespass and fraud.
